OUR STORY

Beneath the Market

Hidden beneath Darlington's Victorian Covered Market lies a network of vaulted cellars that once stored wines, spirits and produce from across the world.

The original banana rails still hang above your head. Historic wine merchants such as Pease, Son & Co. once supplied Darlington's finest establishments, while the tragic story of Robert Robson still lingers beneath the market floor.

Every cocktail on these pages has been created exclusively for The Vault, some born beneath these vaulted ceilings, others carried across oceans before finding a home here.

"Every great cellar keeps more than its own secrets."

If you have any allergy requirements, please inform your server, who will be happy to advise you.

COCKTAILS

The Archive

“Every great cellar keeps more than its own secrets. Over the years, remarkable recipes from around the world have found their way into The Vault.”

Negroni £10.50

Legend tells of Count Camillo Negroni asking for his Americano to be strengthened with gin instead of soda in Florence, Italy, around 1919. The recipe travelled the world before eventually finding its place in The Vault.

London Dry Gin, Campari and Sweet Vermouth stirred over ice to create one of the world's most iconic aperitifs. Bold, bittersweet and perfectly balanced.

Mojito £10.50

Long before cocktails became fashionable, sailors and traders arriving in Cuba refreshed themselves with rum, lime and mint. Simple ingredients became a timeless classic that has crossed every ocean.

White rum, fresh lime, mint, sugar and soda create a refreshing cocktail that's crisp, cooling and unmistakably Cuban.

Old Fashioned £11.00

Before cocktails had names, bartenders simply served spirits “the old-fashioned way.” More than a century later, little has improved upon its simplicity.

Bourbon, sugar syrup and aromatic bitters stirred slowly over ice for a rich, spirit-forward classic.

Margarita £10.50

Its true origin remains disputed, with several claiming to have created it during the 1930s and 40s. Regardless of where it began, the Margarita has become one of the world's favourite cocktails.

Tequila, Triple Sec and fresh lime shaken together for a vibrant citrus cocktail with a salted rim.

Whiskey Sour £10.50

Originally enjoyed by sailors to help preserve citrus at sea, the Whiskey Sour remains one of the finest examples of balance between spirit, citrus and sweetness.

Bourbon, fresh lemon, sugar syrup and egg white shaken to create a silky smooth cocktail with bright citrus.

Rum Sour £10.50

A Caribbean twist on one of the oldest cocktail families, combining rich rum with fresh citrus and silky texture.

Dark rum, fresh lemon, sugar syrup and egg white create a smooth, warming sour with tropical character.

Amaretto Sour £10.50

Once dismissed as overly sweet, the Amaretto Sour has become a modern classic thanks to better ingredients and balanced recipes.

Amaretto, bourbon, lemon and egg white create a rich almond cocktail with bright citrus and a velvety finish.

Painkiller £11.00

Created in the British Virgin Islands, the Painkiller quickly became a favourite amongst sailors and holidaymakers seeking tropical refreshment.

Dark rum, pineapple, orange and coconut create a rich tropical cocktail finished with freshly grated nutmeg.

Bramble £10.50

Created in London during the 1980s, the Bramble proved that modern classics could sit comfortably alongside the great drinks of history.

Gin, lemon, sugar and blackberry liqueur combine for a refreshing berry-forward cocktail.

Espresso Martini £11.00

Created in London after a customer famously requested a drink that would "wake me up and then..." The rest is cocktail history.

Vodka, coffee liqueur, vanilla and fresh espresso combine to create a rich, silky coffee cocktail.

Mint Julep £10.50

An enduring symbol of Southern hospitality, the Mint Julep has refreshed racegoers and bourbon lovers for generations.

Bourbon, mint and sugar served over crushed ice for a cooling whiskey classic.

Gimlet £10.00

Originally mixed for sailors to combat scurvy, the Gimlet remains one of the purest examples of simplicity in cocktail making.

London Dry Gin, fresh lime and sugar syrup create a bright, refreshing classic.

Daiquiri £10.00

Born in Cuba and loved by bartenders worldwide, the Daiquiri proves that three ingredients can create perfection.

White rum, fresh lime and sugar syrup shaken until ice cold. Crisp, refreshing and beautifully balanced.

Zombie £11.50

Created by Donn Beach during the golden age of Tiki, the Zombie became legendary for both its flavour and formidable strength.

A blend of premium rums, tropical fruits and citrus creating an exotic, fruit-forward cocktail with remarkable depth.

French Martini £11.00

Created during the cocktail revival of the 1980s, the French Martini introduced elegant fruit flavours to a new generation.

Vodka, Chambord and pineapple juice combine to create a smooth raspberry cocktail with a silky finish.

Cosmopolitan £11.00

A cocktail that became synonymous with New York in the 1990s, the Cosmopolitan remains effortlessly stylish decades later.

Vodka, Triple Sec, cranberry and fresh lime create a bright citrus cocktail with a vibrant pink hue.

Pornstar Martini £12.00

Created in London in the early 2000s, this modern icon has become one of the UK's favourite cocktails, served with a shot of chilled Prosecco on the side.

Vanilla vodka, passion fruit, vanilla and lime shaken into a vibrant tropical martini with a side of Prosecco.

THE CONFIDENTIAL COLLECTION

Darlington's Own

"Every great building has a history. Ours is served one cocktail at a time."

The Locksmith £12.00

Every vault has a keeper.

Long before these cellars became a cocktail bar, only trusted merchants and market workers carried the keys that unlocked the stores beneath Darlington Market.

The Locksmith celebrates those entrusted with protecting the market's finest goods.

A crisp and elegant aperitif combining London Dry Gin, dry vermouth and St-Germain with aromatic orange bitters. Floral, citrus-led and beautifully dry.

English Rose £11.50

Although the market was built for commerce, Victorian elegance could still be found amongst its ironwork and stone.

English Rose celebrates the refinement of the era with delicate floral flavours and bright summer fruit.

London Dry Gin, raspberry purée, fresh lemon and elderflower liqueur finished with chilled Prosecco. Fresh, floral and lightly sparkling.

The Botanist £11.00

Fresh herbs, flowers and produce arrived daily through Darlington Market.

The Botanist is inspired by the scent of the market gardens that once surrounded the town.

A refreshing blend of London Dry Gin, cucumber, basil, lime and Mediterranean tonic with bright botanical aromas.

Pease & Son £12.50

Established in 1808, Pease, Son & Co. became one of Darlington's most respected wine and spirit merchants.

Their advertisements promoted Scotch whisky, fine wines and imported spirits throughout the town.

This cocktail pays tribute to the merchants who helped shape Darlington's drinking culture.

Woodford Reserve bourbon stirred with honey syrup, aromatic bitters and orange bitters. Smooth, warming and spirit-forward.

The Lamplighter £11.50

When the market closed for the evening, only the gas lamps remained burning.

Merchants would often finish their business beneath the warm glow of lamplight before heading home.

Vodka, coffee liqueur, fresh espresso and vanilla syrup combine to create a rich, silky espresso cocktail.

Cherry Pop Sour £11.50

Every deal made beneath the market carried an element of risk.

Sweet rewards were often followed by sharp consequences.

Bourbon, cherry purée, fresh lemon and sugar syrup shaken with egg white to create a silky modern whiskey sour.

The Ledger £12.50

Every barrel, every bottle and every crate entering the market was carefully recorded in handwritten ledgers.

Without the ledger, business stopped.

Rye whiskey, sweet vermouth and Bénédictine stirred with aromatic bitters for a rich Manhattan-style cocktail.

The Banana Line £11.50

Look up.

The iron rails running through The Vault's ceiling once carried bunches of bananas through the Victorian Market before refrigeration existed.

Today they remain one of the building's most unusual surviving features.

A rich tropical rum cocktail combining Havana Club 7, banana liqueur, pineapple and fresh lime with subtle spice.

Dockside £11.00

Much of the market's finest produce began its journey by sea before travelling inland to Darlington.

Dockside celebrates those long voyages.

Dark rum, pineapple juice, falernum and fresh lime create a refreshing tropical cocktail balanced with spice.

Robson's Fall £12.50

In 1863 tragedy struck when a bull and several handlers crashed through the market floor into the cellar below.

One of those men, Robert Robson, later died from his injuries.

Many believe his spirit still walks beneath the market after dark.

Woodford Reserve bourbon, Cherry Heering, fresh lemon and sugar syrup finished with aromatic smoke. Rich, dark and mysterious.

The Payoff £11.50

Not every deal in Victorian Darlington was agreed in daylight.

Some negotiations happened quietly beneath the streets.

Bourbon, honey syrup, ginger syrup and fresh lemon combine for a warming modern classic with a gentle spice.

The Fence£12.00

Every market had someone who could acquire almost anything—for the right price.

The Fence celebrates those mysterious traders who always seemed to know someone.

Reposado tequila, mezcal, grapefruit, lime and agave create a smoky citrus cocktail with a long finish.

THE SPRITZ SOCIETY

Sparkling Serves

“As the market bustled beneath its magnificent glass roof, merchants and townsfolk gathered to pause, converse and celebrate.”

Aperol Spritz £9.00

Originally created in Northern Italy, the Aperol Spritz has become one of the world's favourite aperitifs. Its vibrant colour and refreshing bitterness make it the perfect way to begin an evening.

Aperol, Prosecco and soda water served over ice with fresh orange. Light, bittersweet and refreshingly crisp.

Hugo Spritz £9.00

Named after the Alpine regions where elderflower grows in abundance, the Hugo offers a lighter, floral alternative to the traditional spritz.

St-Germain elderflower liqueur, Prosecco, soda water, fresh mint and lime create a fragrant, refreshing sparkling cocktail.

Lillet Spritz £9.50

French aperitif Lillet has been enjoyed since the late nineteenth century, combining wine and citrus into one of Europe's most elegant drinks.

Lillet Blanc, Prosecco and soda served with fresh cucumber and strawberry for a crisp, delicate spritz.

St-Germain Spritz £9.00

Crafted from fresh elderflowers gathered each spring, St-Germain has become one of the defining liqueurs of modern cocktail culture.

St-Germain, Prosecco and sparkling water with fresh lemon create a beautifully floral and delicately sparkling cocktail.

Sarti Spritz £9.50

A modern Italian aperitif bursting with tropical fruit and citrus, bringing a vibrant new twist to the classic spritz.

Sarti Rosa, Prosecco and soda water combine for bright notes of blood orange, mango and passionfruit.

Strawberry Spritz £9.00

Inspired by the fresh fruit once sold throughout Darlington Market during the summer months.

Fresh strawberry purée, Aperol, Prosecco and soda combine for a fruity, refreshing twist on an Italian favourite.

THE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY

The Orchard £6.00*Inspired by the orchards that once supplied fruit to Darlington Market.*

Cloudy apple juice, elderflower, fresh lemon and soda water create a crisp, refreshing alcohol-free serve.

Raspberry Garden £6.00*Fresh berries were a familiar sight throughout Victorian markets during the summer months.*

Raspberry purée, fresh lemon, basil and soda combine for a vibrant alcohol-free refresher.

Market Cooler £6.50*Inspired by the exotic fruit arriving from distant ports before making its way to market stalls across Darlington.*

Passionfruit, pineapple, lime and ginger beer combine for a tropical mocktail with gentle spice.

Midnight Ledger £6.50*When the final ledger was closed and the last lamp extinguished, only silence remained beneath the market. Midnight Ledger is our alcohol-free tribute to those late nights in The Vault.*

Cold brew coffee, salted caramel, vanilla and cream create a rich, velvety coffee mocktail that's every bit as indulgent as its spirited counterpart.
